

South Beach Water Supply

Dear Guest,

It has been some weeks since our last water update and we are extremely pleased to advise that our water saving efforts have had a dramatically positive effect on water levels.

A statement issued by the deputy mayor of Cape Town is as follows:

"We are constantly seeing water-saving world-firsts in the making and we must continue our efforts to stretch our water supplies. Judging from what we have achieved thus far, we can do it," he said.

Both locals and visitors have indeed made Cape Town an example to other cities around the world on how to conserve this precious resource.

We thank those guests that visited our beautiful city in those difficult times and feel confident in welcoming future guests.

South Beach will continue with our water saving efforts and like all Cape Town citizens, we are indeed proud of what we have achieved.

Kind regards,

Reggie Hennop

General Manager
